WALKING IS A SPORT

Sport helps us to become strong and healthy. There are many kinds of sport : walking, running, hunting, cycling, swimming, and so on. It is- not important what kinds of sport we are going to do as long as we are strong enough to do it.

Healthy people should exercise regularly, no matter how old they are.

The simplest and the best sport is walking. It is also the cheapest one, because we do not need money to do it. A long walk in the evening may help us sleep more than any medicine.

But people today do not like walking. They prefer to drive a car, though they are not in hurry or travelling a long distance. This kind of "disease" comes from our laziness.

OUR FORESTS

Indonesia has some of the richest forest in the world. The total area of forested land is approximately 120 million hectares.

These forests have existed for million of years and they have much to offer us. They are important! for their products, such as timber, rattan (= rotan), resin (=damar), etc. They are also important for keeping the soil fertile. The leaves of the forest trees fall to the ground and become humus is fertilizer for the soil. The roots of the trees prevent the soil from being washed away by the rain.

Some year ago the forest in Indonesia looked from the air like unbroken carpet of green. Today there are a lot of bare patches (= bidang-bidang tanah) where trees have been cut down and cleared for farms, mines and settlements. In some areas the destruction is continuing at a very rapid rate. If we do not stop this, our forests will be gone by the end of this century.

Our government realizes this and has taken some steps to prevent the destruction. Some regulations have been issued (= dikeluarkan) to protect the forests. CAMPING

Camping is a good way of spending a holiday away from home. It is cheap, and it is a lot of fun. You are free to go anywhere you please, and it is a great pleasure to be able to sleep under the stars.

Next week is a holiday. The students of III A plan to go camping in Cibubur. Now they are discussing their plan.

"Where can we get the tents?" Fitri asked.

"Everyone should have his own bedding, a change of clothing and a set of eating utensils. The bedding should be light and warm and give you enough protection against the damp ground," Allan explained.

"Besides a change of clothing, I believe you also need a sweater or a jacket. It may be cold at night," Tuti said.

"How about food?" Fadli asked

"It's fun to cook our own food. Why don't you bring the cooking utensils, girls? I think you should try to prepare simple dishes in one pan. Then we will only need to carry a few utensils."

The word communication comes from the verb communicate, which means to give or exchange information, news, ideas or opinions by speech or writing. In other words, communication is the sending of information or news from one person to another, or the exchange of such information or news between people.

Through communication people learn from one another the things they want to know. Imagine if human beings should not communicate with one another. If a person cannot communicate, he will not talk to other people, and no other people will talk to him or teach him any thing. So it would be impossible for him to learn anything. Can he learn anything by himself?

How could a child learn to do anything at all if he did not have the chance to communicate with other people, especially with his parents, brother and sisters? He would not learn to talk and would not learn to do any other things either. Someone must teach the child. In other words, someone must communicate knowledge and skills to the child.

The main way people communicate with one another is by speaking. Two people can communicate in this way when they are near to each other. Nowadays, however, we can use electronic instruments like the telephone, radio and telegraph as a means of communication by writing letters.

Writing began when men used pictures, to explain their thoughts for others. Now writing has become a very important means to communicate. Newspaper, magazines, book and other printed materials use writing.

Since communication is important for gaining knowledge you must communicate actively with other people, especially with your teacher and friends at school.
